RESPONSIBLE MINERALS SOURCING POLICY

As a socially responsible company, BAIKOR WORLDWIDE cares about the well-being of people and society. We do business fairly and ethically, respecting human rights, complying with applicable legislation and following our own code of conduct. We are committed to not purchasing raw materials or supplies that may contain minerals from conflict areas where they are extracted under conditions that violate human rights.

We do not source directly from mines in the Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC) or other conflict-affected and high-risk areas (CAHRAs). We are aware that the supply chain of these minerals involves several parties (mines, traders, exporters, alloy producers, etc.) before reaching our direct suppliers. Cooperation across every level of the supply chain is therefore essential.

CONFLICT MINERALS STATEMENT

Products supplied to BAIKOR WORLDWIDE are considered “DRC conflict-free” when:

01 They do not contain tin, tantalum, tungsten or gold (3TG) as elements necessary for their production or functionality; or

02 If they contain these minerals, the minerals originate outside the DRC region, come from scrap or recycled sources, or have been supplied by smelters validated as conflict-free by an independent private-sector body. This includes smelters and refiners conformant with the Responsible Minerals Assurance Process (RMAP) of the Responsible Minerals Initiative (RMI), part of the Responsible Business Alliance (RBA, formerly EICC), which are independently audited worldwide. The list is published at www.responsibleminerals initiative.org.

BAIKOR WORLDWIDE will assess its direct suppliers as part of its conflict minerals audit programme. Suppliers are expected to respond to requests within the stipulated time and with full transparency.
